About NAWC

Since 1895, NAWC has represented the companies that 73 million Americans trust to engineer solutions that deliver safe, reliable and affordable water. Recent events only serve to reinforce the role safe and reliable water plays in our daily lives while emphasizing the importance of maintaining the affordability of this vital resource. NAWC members have an exceptional record of compliance with federal and state health and environmental regulations. Ensuring this high standard of quality requires extraordinary commitment to the communities our members serve. The 15 largest NAWC member companies collectively invest $5 billion annually to ensure their water infrastructure is well maintaining and that safe and clean drinking water is available when needed.

About NAWC Membership

Associate Members of NAWC have enhanced opportunities to support the industry. Through NAWC publications, events and its website, Associate Members receive the resources they need to stay current on the latest industry news as well as develop stronger relationships with water and wastewater professionals. Associate Membership in NAWC distinguishes your company from the others with decision makers.

Associate Membership allows your organization to be at the table to learn about key and emerging issues in the water and wastewater sectors and participate in the activities and initiatives NAWC conducts to address these issues.

Associate Membership is open to companies who share NAWC's commitment to the professional water sector. Associate members include a diverse range of companies including:

- Equipment manufacturers
- Consulting firms
- Law firms
- Engineering firms
